Independent Mental Health Advocacy in Birmingham

We offer free, confidential and independent advocacy services to help people understand their rights, be treated as equals and be heard.
POhWER provides an advocacy service for people who have been sectioned under the Mental Health Act.

Our Independent Mental Health Advocacy Service can help you to understand your situation. We can provide you with options to access relevant support and understand the choices you have.

You can use this service if you are:

- Currently being detained under certain sections of the Mental Health Act
- Subject to Guardianship or a Community Treatment Order
- Considering certain treatments which have been suggested to you

If you are sectioned you have a legal right to receive information and support from an Independent Mental Health Advocate, also referred to as an ‘IMHA’.
How your advocate can support you:

✓ explain what is happening to you and your rights
✓ help prepare and support you at meetings, including appeals, ward rounds, Care Plan Approach meetings (CPA), and tribunals
✓ help you to communicate with staff
✓ help you access your medical and local authority records

This service is available to residents of Birmingham.
